We dedicate this page to our advisers
in appreciation of the help
they have given us throughout the past four years.

Foreword

As June approaches, the first chapter of a book, the life of every Senior, is coming to a close. Each of us faces graduation with mingled emotions of joy and sadness. High school has given us the basis for additional formal education, the incentive for self-education, an appreciation of the past, and hope for the future. Furthermore, our secondary schooling has equipped many to earn a living. In addition, education has increased our tolerance. It has also taught us to work, to accept failure, to try anew, and finally to achieve. As we conclude this chapter of a book that is still small in dimension, awaiting us is the infinite encyclopedia of the world.

You will note in this 1956 edition of the HUTTLESTONIAN that quotations from Shakespeare form the theme of the book. His thoughts and comments on a multitude of subjects are immortal. He has given mankind laughter, philosophy, true observations, studies of personality, and ethical reassurance. As we peruse the yearbook today and in the future, we hope that the Class of 1956 will be able to relive school days, recollect happy-go-lucky experiences, and recall friends. In the words of Shakespeare, may the HUTTLESTONIAN "hold the mirror up to nature," and may its reflections prove pleasurable and profitable.

Now, as we venture forth to the future and the uncertain, our goal is to fulfill the ideals and aspirations which our God, our country, and our school have set for us.

Preface

“The world’s a stage,” our guide, Will Shakespeare, said—
And so, we might add, is our favorite school.
Throughout these pages, gathered for your joy,
Are all the scenes and acts of our four years.
To crystallize each cherished moment, then,
Has been our purpose; as you read and view
Nostalgically, perhaps, in later days,
May you recall the golden hours of youth —
The learning, fun, and constant friendliness,
The classroom scenes, the sports upon the field
Or court — and may this little book become
An ode to pleasing memories of the joy
And wonder of our four Fairhaven years.

Faculty and Administration

*"You shall be as a father to my youth;
My voice shall sound as you do prompt my ear,
And I will stoop and humble my intents
To your well-practiced, wise directions."*

FAIRHAVEN HIGH SCHOOL
OFFICE OF THE PRINCIPAL

To the Class of 1956:

In one of his soliloquies Hamlet asks:

*What's Hecuba to him, or he to Hecuba
That he should weep for her?*

Perhaps some may ask: "What's Shakespeare to us, or we to Shakespeare, that the Huttlestonian should be full of references to him?" When I think of the interesting Shakespeare classes I have visited in our school, however, I think this question unlikely. From the Eighth Graders reading A Midsummer Night's Dream to the Seniors studying Hamlet there must be a realization that three hundred and fifty years ago a great English dramatist wrote with universal appeal. His genius was such that we still laugh at his comic characters; we see people around us who resemble people in his plays; and we find truths about the conduct of life that are safe guides for each generation. Moreover, what we discover in Shakespeare's work, people of other tongues and nations find also.

You have had an opportunity to read some of the greatest plays and to fix in your memory some of the most familiar passages. I sat down this evening to turn the pages of some of plays less often read in school and I found many lines I had underscored because they appealed to me. Let me mention a few.

In the play that bears his name, King John says:

*How oft the sight of means to do ill deeds
Makes ill deeds done!*

This is doubtless true. Can we work it in reverse and encourage good deeds by the people and the things we choose to have around us and the thoughts we allow our minds to dwell upon?

People sometimes return and tell me they are handicapped because they did far less than their best while they were in school. I recall King Richard's lament:

I wasted time and now doth time waste me.

I urge you to build your life, not hit or miss, but step by step according to a well considered plan. Note the words of Lord Bardolph:

*When we mean to build,
We first survey the plot, then draw the model;
And when we see the figure of the house,
Then must we rate the cost of the construction.*

As you go out into life, keep your conscience clear. Remember the words of King Henry VI:

*Thrice is he arm'd that hath his quarrel just,
And he but naked, though locked up in steel,
Whose conscience with injustice is corrupted.*

And now I close with a line from King Richard II that I found I had marked years ago:

A while to work, and after, — holiday!

Best wishes for your happiness and success.

"The pleasure is all ours, my worthy King."

King Chester:
"Let me conduct you on a tour of my domain as proof of my multitudinous retinue. First, let me present you to my amuensis, Lady Evelyn Martin. She is in the counting room. Lady Evelyn, how are the accounts of the Junior Court coming?"

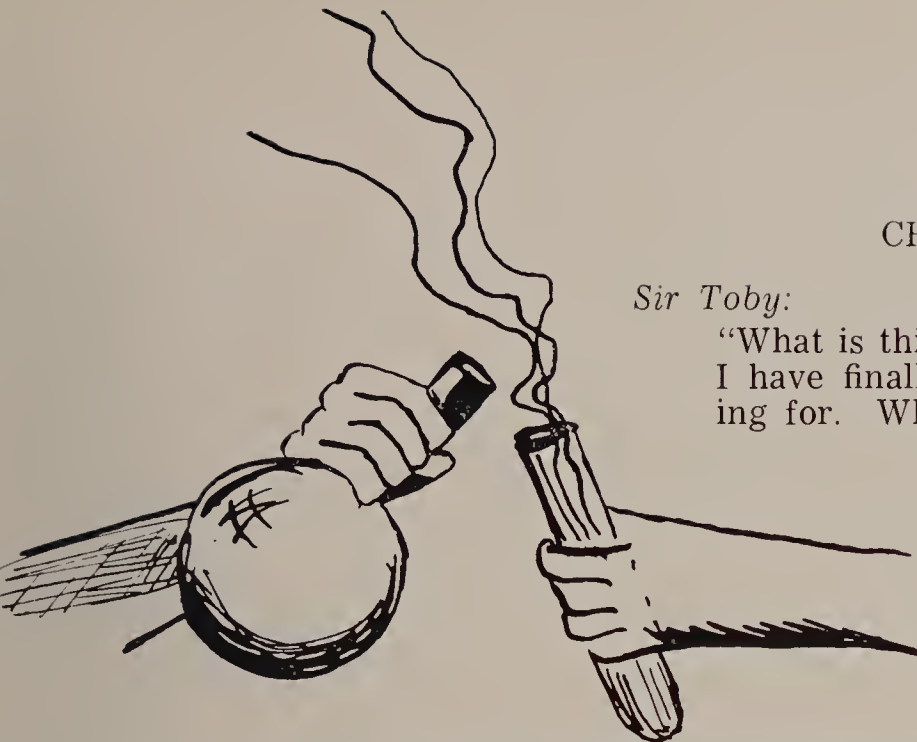

COUNTING ROOM

Lady Evelyn:
"Your junior subjects are coming here in droves. A misunderstanding has occurred pertaining to class rings. Tenfold have approached me with the sad account of incorrect size."

Sir Toby:
"They're not very clever are they, your Highness?"

King Chester:
"On the contrary they are quite an exceptional class, but anon, I shall show you for yourself."

CHEMISTRY ROOM

Sir Toby:

"What is this room of bottles and vials? Ah, I have finally found what I have been looking for. What vintage, my liege?"

King Chester:

"Ah no, this is my chemistry laboratory. 'Tis under the supervision of Lord Raymond Boyce, an expert alchemist. You must excuse the chaos. One of my junior subjects, not trusting in Lord Boyce's judgment, declined to explore the realm of hydrogen. He lit a taper to a vial of hydrogen, and !!! Well you can see for yourself."

Sir Toby:

"Tis a shame."

King Chester:

"Tis of no matter, Lord Boyce was knighted for his exceptional bravery. Come, we have only begun our tour."

MATH ROOM

King Chester:

"Here is our Mathematics Chamber. Lord Robert Lawton, a mathematical wizard, is in complete control of this mysterious subject. All unknowns are indeed known to him. He is also accredited with the invention of this peculiar device. This device, though made of mere wood, has the faculty for making incredible figures. The most difficult of problems are solved by this mysterious contrivance as if it were child's play."

In the rear of the chamber is a group of Juniors developing new formulas with the slide rule.

"As you can see, this Junior Court is an amazing group of subjects. They have accomplished feats such as no class has ever done before.

But enough; the time is fleeting. Let us be on our way. A banquet is awaiting us."

BANQUET HALL

King Chester:

"Here are menus for you. I am sure you will enjoy our delicacies."

LE MENU THE MENU

Des Chiens Chauds .....	Hot Dogs
Des Haricots .....	Beans
Choux Melanges .....	Cole Slaw
Souffle de Bananes .....	Banana Pudding
Du Lait Fraiche .....	Fresh Milk

Macbeth:

"My appetite is, indeed, aroused. The pleasant aromas have increased my desire for a hearty meal."

King Chester:

"You shall have it here."

Sir Toby Belch:

"Bring the viands. I cannot wait to taste those delicious morsels."

FRENCH CHAMBER

King Chester:

"Did you enjoy the repast?"

Macbeth:

"Indeed! Such a meal! I haven't ever had the pleasure of partaking of such a remarkable feast before."

Sir Toby:

"Where are we now, my liege?"

King Chester:

"We shall enter the 'Chamber de Francais.' Our eminent professor, Lord Philips Noyes, helps our junior subjects in the art of speaking Romance languages."

Macbeth:

"You certainly are thorough in your educational program."

Lord Philips:

"Welcome, welcome, Roi Chester."

King Chester:

"Lord Philips, may I present Macbeth and Sir Toby Belch."

Macbeth:

"Tis a great honor to meet one so learned as you."

Sir Toby:

"Oui et moi aussi."

Lord Philips:

"The pleasure is mine, noble sirs. Sir Toby, have I the gratification of speaking to one who is fluent in the art of speaking French?"

Sir Toby:

"In all truth, sir, that phrase is all I know."

Lord Philips:

"Oh, Honorable King, this brilliant Junior Court astounds me! Immediately before you entered, they invented a new tense; the indirect imperfect! If this continues, these prodigies will be more advanced than I."

King Chester:

"Explain this new tense to me. I mustn't be ignorant of it."

Lord Philips:

"To tell the humble truth, I haven't mastered the intricacy of it, yet. It has me puzzled; but 'Keep the faith.' I shall solve the mystery."

King Chester:

"Notify me when you have found the solution. Come my friends, on to the next chamber."

Sir Toby:

"What is that frightful clamor? Is your court getting out of hand?"

TYPING CHAMBER

King Chester:

"No, but let us visit that chamber. You see before you a group being trained in the use of the Junior court's latest invention — the typewriter. Meet my stately helpmeet, Queen Grace. She will explain the principle of operating this new artifice."

Queen Grace:

"As you can see, this new tool for time saving is a difficult machine to manipulate, but it is a mere bagatelle for these Junior wonders. Would you care to experiment with this unique article?"

Sir Toby:

"Yes! Yes! Some gems of poetic imagery have begun to shine in the vast recesses of my mind."

Tho this machine doth clatter,
It really taps out matter.
And at times it seems to sing,
With a ding, a ring, a ding.

Macbeth:

The inspiration that your Junior court has given me prompts me to compliment them with this bit of poesy.

A SONNET TO THE JUNIOR CLASS

A To what shall I compare the Junior Class?
B This group of prodigies and mental worth
A Shall never from the memory of men pass
B And bards for e're will praise these joys of earth.
C Students of languages, sciences and Math
D Who knowledge of the ages have explored
C They never have aroused a teacher's wrath
D They love books, and in school are never bored.
E Next year they'll be the finest senior class
F To ever grace the halls of F. H. S.
E When for the last time through its doors they pass
F The unsuspecting business world they'll bless.

History of the Class of 1956

We are presenting a four act play entitled "History of the Class of 1956". The scene is Fairhaven High School between the years 1952 and 1956. This realistic production displays talents and skills of "infinite variety". Now the curtain rises for act one.

"MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING"

A merry cast of Freshmen pranced on to the stage to begin their high school drama. They elected as their leads Paul Hirst, President; Susan Leach, Vice President; Harriet Hawes, Secretary; David Brenneke, Treasurer. With Mr. Pierce's directing, the company of players started at once to raise money for their first production by selling paper and sponsoring the Freshman-Sophomore Dance. At the end of the act, Susan Leach received special applause for being chosen a member of the cheering squad.

"THE COMEDY OF ERRORS"

During Act II, the plot thickens as the cast's activities increase. Sophomore principals were Paul Hirst, President; Susan Leach, Vice President; Nathan Heuberger, Secretary; Anna Jane Swerlein, Treasurer. To help the box office receipts, we held the "Bunny Hop" and conducted a greeting card sale. Thelma Dahl, Katharine Mahoney, Anne Sherman and Janice Surprenant became members of the cheering squad and for the last two acts joined Susan in encouraging the enthusiasm and spirit of the audience at all athletic events. Nathan Heuberger, Susan Leach, Kathy Mahoney, Millicent Morgan, Jeanne Paiva, Janice Snook, and Marilyn Taber were appointed Junior probationary editors of our theatre program, the "Hutlestonian". Then the curtain closed on the second act, which had been presented under the able direction of Mrs. Howland.

"AS YOU LIKE IT"

The curtain rises in the Junior year with Nathan Heuberger, President; Katharine Mahoney, Vice President; Pauline Kolasz, Secretary; and Susan Leach, Treasurer having the lead parts. The cast founded the "Variety" of our theatre, "The Blue Banner". Its first editors were Marilyn Taber and Bill Reed. Mrs. Bruce, with untiring effort, directed the remainder of the play. The first social event was the "Turkey Trot", the Junior Senior Dance. During this act, we ventured to present a Dutch ballet entitled "Tulip Time" with Glenna Dobson appearing as our queen. Occupying box seats at opening night were the newly installed officers of the Honor Society, President, Nathan Heuberger; Vice President, Kathy Mahoney; Secretary, Millicent Morgan; Treasurer, Janice Snook. Jeanne Paiva and Janice Snook represented the troop at Massachusetts Girls' State, while Dave Heap, John Rogers, and Dick Perry attended Boys' State. To study foreign scripts, Kathy Mahoney and David Brenneke went abroad under the American Field Service Summer Program. Now that the stars of '55 were departing, we, the understudies, took our places as Seniors on Junior Day. A buffet supper and dance filled the evening to keep up the theatre's tradition of gayety. Thus with happy hearts, we looked forward to our greatest act, the Senior year.

"ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL"

For the last time the house lights dimmed and the curtain slowly rose with Nathan Heuberger, President; Katharine Mahoney, Vice President; Pauline Kolasz, Secretary; and Susan Leach, Treasurer stepping forth. Room 7 was converted to a "Globe Theatre", when Margrit Pierrard from Luxembourg and Tony Pinna from Italy joined our troop to observe the happenings behind the scenes in the U. S. A. The company presented a dance fantasy, "Winter Wonderland". In the sports world, John Correia made the All Bristol County football team and Capt. John Pina was on the Bay State Scholastic Dream Basketball team. We are certain that our sets will be kept neat and tidy by Theresa McCormack, who won the Betty Crocker Homemaker Award. Janice Snook is entitled to an extra bow for representing the school art Student Government Day in Boston; Katharine Mahoney received the D. A. R. award. We all took "Time Out For Ginger", the senior play. During intermission, we discovered the cast were members of our own company, Glenna Dobson, Jeanne Paiva, Mary Evelyn Root, Janice Snook, Ray Comeau, Charlie Entwhistle, Dick Galvin, Chet Hathaway, and David Heap. On June eighth, the curtain will fall for the last time. Now we are looking forward to the senior prom and other festivities accompanying graduation. Finally, we shall take our curtain calls on the thirteenth of June, when we receive our diplomas. The wonderful memories of events enacted both before the footlights and behind the scenes in the production of "History of the Class of 1956" will always be ours.

Class Prophecy

We descended to the tomb of the great Shakespeare
To learn the fate of our classmates dear.
The wise old man gave us knowledge true
That we shall now pass on to you.

We see two politicians, Janice and John,
Leading our country from sunset to dawn.
And working with them, and making a rumpus,
Are Costa, Mowat, Brennan, and Bumpus.

Billy and Glenna we find have wed,
Just as good prophets always have said;
And helping them raise their family,
Are Boyd, Hawes, and Heald working frantically.

Next to the circus and the famous sideshow:
There's twirler Morency and announcer Comeau;
Look at the tumblers so nimble who know how to fall —
Why they're Leach and Sherman, Surprenant and Dahl.

The teaching career was well-opened wide,
So Taber, Correa, and Walsh stepped inside.
Great was their delight in teaching the math,
Arranged and condensed by Nathan and Kath.

At the "Minute Man Wash" are Hasset and Krol,
Washing the cars that haven't been sold;
The Jaguars are few and far in between —
But their owners will be Bob, Roland, and Jean.

Pauline Kolasz is the new business head;
Maureen and Rita her assistants it's said;
There are also Sylvia, Sheila, and Terry,
Hazel, Natalie, Loretta, and Betty.

We find our two Carols playing the horn,
With Tony Santos leading them on.
Charlies Entwistle toots, dressed in gaudy slacks,
With Anna Jane and her melodious sax.

Selley's stable has one little filly —
Does it belong to Norma or Milly?
Our engineers have designed its new gate —
Credit goes to Brenneke, Heap, and Drake.

Chet Mackay has built a bank so tall
For millionaires Wade, Pimental, and Hall.
Safeguarding the bank are guards Tex and Larry
With burglar alarm invented by Harry.

Bob Benoit at the typewriter pounding
Is sending the news of our sportsmen resounding.
We read about Pina, Cabral, and O'Leary —
Their playing is famous in old Tipperary.

Donald and Gordon, each a space cadet,
Haven't left for the moon as yet.
But serving our country with vigor and vim
Are Carl, Joe, Dick, Augy, and Jim.

The class artists, Jan, Cliff, and Loraine
Are newly-made members of the Hall of Fame.
Jeanne and Dick, noted for thespian skills,
Are having their pictures on theatre bills.

In the Gloria Yen restaurant, pretty and handy,
Are waitresses Astrid, Carolyn, and Sandy;
The food is tasty and thrifty, too —
Cooks Peter and Paul will tell you it's true.

Dr. Bill Reed, full of medical lore,
Gets his prescriptions at Mason's Drug Store.
Food in the hospital, made where it's quiet,
Keeps nurses Gale, Pat, and Sylvia right on a diet.

Lois is married and doing fine,
Report Eunice and Faith, back from the Rhine;
Their traveling companions, Reynolds and Valerio,
Have just crossed paths with Casey and Marreiro.

There's a new Navy ship with a new C. P. O.
And I see by the crew's list, he's A. Fonteneau.
Not to be outdone in guarding the water
Are Coast Guard's Bill Hegarty and Navy's Ralph Potter.

As the lines of recruits in our service grow,
There's a new member called Mr. F. Pacheco,
And also A Norris, it's Richard I mean,
Of whom it is said, he'll be a Marine.

While Ray Faria twirls for the Boston Red Sox,
Young girls learn Phys. Ed. from our own Janice Hawkes.
Nurse Sirois, in helping some people to grow,
Is trying her skill on Nurse DiPiro.

Two workers for the telephone company I met
Were born with that familiar name of Brunette.
Answering our country's urgent call
Are Tom Vasconcellos and Vallie Cabral.

If it's news you want, do not despair;
We have Chet Hathaway at home on the air.
And handling a business as big as can be
Is Pete Closson, friend of both you and me.

A. Johnson is with the Standard, they say,
While Gilly helps out with the sports resume.
The headlines advise promoters to get
A fine young dancer named Carol Doucette.

Cutting and Ramsey are out for a race
With speedy H. Johnson keeping the pace;
More musicians called Joaquin and Gray
Keep concert mistress Root lively and gay.

Two future stewardesses, Roderick and Chase,
Fly counsel Pinna home from a case.
And on the same plane, with briefcase and pen,
Are Saunders and C. Faria, big businessmen.

Marion and Beryl, to be wives are agreed,
With Teresa McCormack supplying the feed.
Gibbs, Days, and Mello are right on their heels,
Not to be denied when the wedding bell peals.

Lomba and Correia, baseball's big two,
Are making opponents feel beaten and blue;
While Margrit and Judith record these great games,
We find we have ended and run out of names.

So up from the tomb of the Elizabethan Bard,
We come from a task that was really quite hard.
We hope you are happy, and please bear in mind.
A better bunch of prophets you never will find.

Class Will

Sitting here in our great Huttleston Study, dimly lit by a waxen taper, and under the guidance of our legal advisor, the Earl of Dias, we put forth in our penmanship, upon this Great Book of Memories, the items bequeathed to the class of 1957.

ITEM 1—Nathan bequeaths his wit and expressive talents to Richard Tirrell.

ITEM 2—Susan, with a tear in her eye and a lump in her throat, regretfully relinquishes her beloved Spencer trophy to posterity.

ITEM 3—The 440 yard run is bequeathed to John Radcliffe by Antonio Santos.

ITEM 4—Jeanne leaves her acting ability to Mr. Dias for his future English classes in order that he might not have to read Lady Macbeth, Ophelia, or Juliet, in his masculine voice.

ITEM 5—To Miss Hoyle, we leave Dick Galvin's ability to play Romeo.

ITEM 6—The intelligent members of this year's Honor Society leave a wax scraper to future initiates.

ITEM 7—Gordon Roderiques leaves his duals to Alan Fales with a fond wish for fewer traffic tickets.

ITEM 8—To Julie O'Leary is left the feminine instincts and intuition of Marilyn Taber.

ITEM 9—Chet Mackay leaves his black panther tattoo to Bill Fuller.

ITEM 10—We, the honest and industrious class of 1956, leave to Mrs. Martin a set of personally-autographed absence slips.

ITEM 11—Charles "Wentwistle" bequeaths his "Charles Atlas" course to Lewis Jenney.

ITEM 12—Faith Alden presents her lively personality and good-looks for the conversion of any Junior boy considered a woman-hater.

ITEM 13—John Hassett leaves his nicotine stains to the janitors, who will try to find a new detergent for their removal.

ITEM 14—Jeanine Morency leaves her football equipment and a pound of grapes to Miss Hoyle to be sure that she doesn't forget her.

ITEM 15—We, the occupants of Room 7, leave to Mrs. Cromie a carton of corn kernels to help her survive the winter of '57, while she is recuperating.

ITEM 16—Harriet Hawes leaves her uninhibited laugh to Sue Silveira.

ITEM 17—Sorry, girls — Glenna Dobson just refuses to leave Bill Field!
— Will John Rogers do?

ITEM 18—Margrit and Tony leave the U. S. A. and we, the eminent Class of 1956, leave F. H. S.

As we each pen our names to this scroll, we close our Book of Memories, snuff our taper and silently depart, the hope that each item will be carried out faithfully, and that the name of "Class of '56" be ever on the lips of posterity in the wake of our glory.

Junior Prom

"Tulip Time," the most enchanting evening of our Junior year, came at last on May 6, 1955, bringing with it excitement and gaiety.

Pretty Glenna Dobson, lovely in a pink gown, was crowned Queen by Sandra Hogarth on the stage, which was picturesque with a Dutch windmill and twinkling stars. She reigned with her attendant, Katharine Mahoney, and her court, Faith Alden, Carol Doucette, Carol French, Pauline Kolasz, Janice Snook, and Janice Surprenant, as the Junior class swayed to the music of Bud Lilley's Orchestra among wooden shoes brimful of colorful tulips.

A good time was, indeed, enjoyed by all who attended this annual frolic.

"TIME OUT FOR GINGER"

March 16, 1956 — Opening Night at Fairhaven High School. It is the night that we, the star-studded cast of "Time Out For Ginger", Dick Galvin, Jeanine Morency, Mary Evelyn Root, Glenna Dobson, Janice Snook, Chet Hathaway, Charlie Entwistle, Dave Heap, Ray Comeau, and myself had been awaiting anxiously for ten weeks.

As I sit here on the set, which had become my own living room, as Agnes Carol, waiting for the "zero hour", 8 o'clock, I remember the first stage rehearsal, when Charlie, as Mr. Wilson, was instructed by Miss Hoyle to show "suppressed rage", and he presently launched upon a series of actions, which promptly brought spontaneous fits of laughter from the cast and director. When Miss Hoyle inquired what he was doing, "Mr. Wilson" blankly replied that he was pacing. After a brief lesson on "how to pace" by our patient director, the rehearsal resumed.

Then I remember one rehearsal of a scene during which I was rebuking my two older daughters for not attending Ginger's football game because of jealousy. I demanded, "Are those grapes terribly sour, girls?" — To which Jeanine innocently whispered to Miss Hoyle, "what grapes?"

One incident that marked our rehearsals was the fact that our maid was "carrying on" with the president of the local bank — that was not included in the script, either!

We of the cast have been so privileged as to see Glenna attired in a black leather jacket and Dick, sporting a mangy, moth-eaten raccoon coat.

For ten weeks, we worked together and laughed together, while Miss Hoyle directed us in our thespian activities. She trained Dave in his routine of "hot licks" as Eddie Davis, padded Ray with a pillow, taught Dick the art of "love making", and became a wonderful and inspiring friend.

Now it is ten minutes to curtain time, and I can hear Carol Chase, our hard-working prompter, testing the bell and buzzer, and Bev Heald, Gale Duxbury, and "A. J." Swerlein are dashing across the stage like three chickens with their heads cut off. Even our three light-switching, door-slamming, curtain-pulling stage hands, Tony Pinna, Bill Reed, and Chet Mackay are beginning to move! Something has happened to my stomach as I leave my living room to await my cue back-stage. In a few short hours, the curtain will close for the last time on "Time Out For Ginger", and we will find our exuberant joy mixed with a tinge of sorrow as we realize that all the work and laughter we have experienced as one happy family will become just a part of "Yesterday". We can never relive those hilarious moments of rehearsal or the bursting excitement of this night, yet we know that we shall never forget Miss Hoyle and the wonderful chapter in our lives entitled, "Time Out For Ginger".

 3rd. row: — N. Heuberger, K. Mahoney, J. Snook.

Scholarship, Leadership, Character, and Service are four ideals, which all members of the National Honor Society must uphold. In January of each year, the juniors and seniors who have met these requirements are initiated into the Society in an impressive ceremony. The officers in black robes form a shield around which the newly initiated members, holding lighted candles, make their promise to adhere to the standards of this organization. In June, new officers are installed.

Officers for 1955-56 are Nathan Heuberger, President; Katharine Mahoney, Vice-President; Millicent Morgan, Secretary; and Janice Snook, Treasurer. Other members are David Brenneke, Carol French, David Heap, Lois Heuberger, Susan Leach, Richard Norris, Jeanne Paiva, John Rogers, Anne Sherman, and Marilyn Taber, seniors. Junior members are Ferne Cathcart, Dennis Duval, Charles Foley, Sandra Henshaw, Judith Hirschmann, Judith Knox, Diana Laycock, Anne Marsden, Ida Mello, Betty Monteiro, Susan Pepin, Susan Silveira, Barbara Souza, and Gladys Teixeira.

Susan Leach, '56

Key Club

The Key Club of Fairhaven High School is one of a nation-wide network of similar groups sponsored by Kiwanis International.

In club activities during the year, the organization has completed many money-raising programs, including the sale of Christmas trees and wreaths, the Coca Cola concession at basketball games, and a successful record hop. Again, the Key Club sponsored a basketball game between the faculty and Key Club members.

Continuing its role as a service organization, the Key Club has planned varied assemblies this past year, offered a hundred dollar scholarship, supported the Pep Squad and Cheerleaders, acted as guides for Open House and Audubon lectures, served as bus boys at the annual Pops Concert, and conducted a Save Driving Campaign.

Key Clubbers are gaining valuable experience in leadership, patriotism, and co-operation with others by serving the school, the community, and the nation.

Officers this year are the following: Cameron Bangs, President; Peter Mendell, Vice-President; Charles Entwistle, Secretary, and Ray Com-eau, Treasurer. Faculty adviser is Mr. Chester M. Downing.

The Student Council is composed of representatives elected by each home room in the school. Its purpose is to sponsor worthwhile projects and to foster good will among the student body and the faculty.

This year under the advisorship of Mrs. Bruce, the Council sold book covers and sponsored a Coffee Hour, welcoming the Foreign Exchange students. It also sponsored a dance and a food sale with the proceeds going to the American Field Service to help bring Foreign Exchange Students to Fairhaven High School next year. Members of the Council attended conventions at Cohasset and Silver Lake Regional High Schools. Five members of the Council also attended a Model Congress at the American International College in Springfield.

The officers of the group for the year were Nathan Heuberger, president; Katharine Mahoney, vice-president; and Carol-Ann Chase, secretary-treasurer.

Carol-Ann Chase '56

The Blue Banner

Everyone likes a newspaper, and Fairhaven High School students are no exception. The Blue Banner, our school newspaper, supplies us with entertaining, interesting, and accurate information concerning the students, clubs, and activities of our school.

This year William Reed is editor-in-chief of our praiseworthy newspaper, and Florence Jenney serves as co-editor-in-chief. Teresa McCormack and Lawrence Peck are the assistant editors, who aid in putting out this periodical five times a year. Each class is represented on the staff, and Earl J. Dias serves as the adviser to this energetic group.

The Blue Banner is now ending its second year as a recognized periodical of Fairhaven High School. May the Blue Banner wave for many years.

Marilyn Taber, '56

Band

Again, as in previous years, the Fairhaven High School Band can take pride in its accomplishments. Under the capable supervision of Miss Elizabeth I. Hastings and Mr. Alipio Bartholo, the group has displayed unusual, laudable routines at football games.

The annual Tag Day was an overwhelming success. Band members made a record collection of $736.00, which was added to the fund for the purchase of new instruments. This year, the band particularly prizes its new addition — a set of tubular chimes donated in memory of the late Richard Adshead.

Now, the Band is diligently rehearsing for its annual Pops Concert, which is certain to be a success, both socially and financially.

After the Southeastern Massachusetts Music Festival in Needham and a trip to the state capitol, another prosperous year will come to an end.

William Reed '56

Orchestra

The two aims of our music department are to foster a better understanding of music in the mind of the student and to provide an interesting program of music for the public.

This year, the Fairhaven High School Senior Orchestra has striven to achieve these goals through many hours of practice and the untiring effort of its capable director, Miss Elizabeth I. Hastings.

This year's schedule has been both busy and beneficial. Beginning with the musical programs for assemblies, the orchestra also has participated in audition festivals on both the state and regional level, in addition to playing for Senior Play and Commencement exercises.

Besides these activities, several members of the orchestra have been selected by competitive tests to participate in such organizations as the All Bristol County Orchestra and the Massachusetts All-State Orchestra, which convened in Pittsfield this year.

CHORAL GROUPS

Since September, the rafters of our auditorium have been ringing with the melodious strains provided by numerous choral groups, under the direction of Mrs. Marguerite Johnson.

This year, the choral department has been especially industrious. Each morning has been particularly designated for a special group to rehearse. For example, the Double Quartet practices on Monday. This group has participated in the All-State Festival, as well as offering their voices in many of the school's activities.

Tuesday finds the Choristers, comprising fifty Juniors and Seniors, learning new music in the assembly hall. The week is rounded out by rehearsals of the Girls' Glee Club on Thursday and Freshman-Sophomore Chorus on Friday.

The members of these choral organizations have found a most valuable outlet for their creative expression in the past school year, singing before judges at the Massachusetts State Festival; participating in the opera, "Aida," and providing a vocal concert in April. However, what is perhaps more significant, they have learned to respect the ideals of their neighbor and to blend their voices with him to provide entertaining and listenable results.

 Second row: — Peter Mendell, Kenny Lanoue, Antonio Santos, Louie Jenney, Carl Junier, Nate Heuberger, Al Teixeira.
 Third row: — Barry Behn, Robert Botelho, Jerry Razon, Albert Dahl, Andy Martin, Ray Frates, Pete Closson.

Matters seemed somewhat bleak this year for our heroes of the gridiron inasmuch as only two regulars from the previous season returned to aid Coach Entin's Blue and White. However, with a resurgence of the old Fairhaven High spirit, the aggressive team downed their first foe, Attleboro, 6-0. Things did not continue on so smooth a plane, though, for in a rain-delayed contest, Barnstable triumphed 14-0. The next adversary for the Blue was Durfee High. Fairhaven lost this thriller by one point as Durfee came from behind, 13-12. The highlight of the season came with Fairhaven's well-merited victory over arch-rival, New Bedford, 7-6. In another rain-delayed contest, Fairhaven was whipped by Coyle, 13-0, and, by an identical score, the undefeated Wareham team won out in a hard-fought game. The last game of the season ended in defeat for Fairhaven at the hands of the behemoths of Voke. The score was 21-12.

Perhaps the most striking success of the season was the rebirth of spirit even in the face of four losses. Let's hope next year will see a better record and an even greater demonstration of school and team spirit.

Basketball 1955-1956

First row: — W. Robinson, M. Cabral, J. Correia, J. Pina, B. Behn, R. Benoit, P. Mendell, R. Texeira.

Second row: — Coach Entin, A. Texeira, T. Ward, L. Mikalsen, R. Pimental, J. Concanon, G. Ward, W. Titcomb, Manager A. Augustine and G. Santos.

Third row: — K. Lanoue, R. Carl, R. Furnans, S. Drake, L. Medeiros.

The 1955-56 basketball season was the most productive for Fairhaven High School in the past five years. Coach Entin's squad, led by Captain John Pina, racked up eight victories in twelve games. The selection of John Pina to the All-State Dream Squad was a well deserved honor. Two high points of the season were a twenty-seven point conquest of Holy Family's Class "C" champs and a two point, last second victory over Voke. At the end of the regular season, Coach Entin accepted an invitation to the Bay State Tournament. The Blue swept through this tournament to win the Class "B" title in four games, defeating Falmouth, Randolph, Winthrop, and Concord. To add to the Blue's laurels, John Pina, Manuel Cabral, and Robert Benoit were selected for the All-Tourney team.

Tennis

D. Brenneke, K. Lanoue, J. Pina, B. Behn, Coach George Cook.

The 1955 Fairhaven High School tennis team, enjoyed an excellent season. It was highlighted by consistent victories and double wins over New Bedford. Led by Captain John Pina, this team was one of the finest ever to grace the courts of Fairhaven High. Much credit must be given to Coach George Cook, who inspired the boys all the way. There is considerable talent left for next year, with lettermen John Pina, Kenneth Lanoue, Barry Behn, and David Brenneke returning. The coming season looks promising for Coach Cook and his 1956 racket swingers.

First row: — K. Lavoue, T. Delano, W. Robinson, J. Correia, E. Sylvia, J. Mottas, J. Piva, A. Texeira.

Second row: — J. Razon, R. Benoit, M. Cabral, R. Hall, P. Faria, R. Faria, J. Hubbard, C. Junier, D. Santos, G. Santos, Mr. Clement, coach.

The 1955 baseball season was once again a very successful one for Fairhaven High. Coach Alec Clement's nine came up with their second consecutive good season, winning twelve and losing only four. Led by the All-Bristol County righthanded pitcher, Ray Faria, the team defeated opponent after opponent with zealous determination, narrowly missing an invitation to the Eastern Mass. Baseball Tournament. Things look bright for the 1956 season, when eight lettermen will be returning.

Coach Edward McDermott's squad of winged-foot trackmen won two meets and lost three in 1955, defeating Barnstable, and Voke and losing to New Bedford, Durfee, and Attleboro. This was an improvement over the 1954 season, and prospects are exceptionally good for the 1956 campaign. Donald Gavin has taken over the coaching duties this year. Six lettermen will be returning: David Brenneke, Antonio Santos, Louis Jenney, Peter Mendell, Nathan Heuberger, and Larry Peck. The season's scores were:

Fairhaven 62½	Barnstable	15½
Fairhaven 17	Durfee	60
Fairhaven 17½	Attleboro	59½

Cheerleaders

First row: — Thelma Dahl, Ida Mello, Ann Sherman, July Robinson.
Second row: — Janice Surprenant, Susan Leach, Katharine Mahoney.

Seven energetic, enthusiastic cheerleaders support the Fairhaven High School athletic teams. Besides displaying and maintaining school spirit, the girls learn to cooperate among themselves and work for a common goal.

This year the cheerleading squad has been particularly active. They organized a pep squad to foster interest in athletics and inaugurated neat new basketball uniforms. The Spencer Cheering Tournament was an exciting and happy event with the squad receiving a fifth-place trophy.

Five Seniors and two Juniors comprise the squad. The Seniors are Susan Leach, captain; Anne Sherman, Janice Surprenant, Thelma Dahl, and Katharine Mahoney. Ida Mello and Judy Robinson are the Junior members. Joyce Belliveau capably substituted during several games.

Cheerleading has become a year-round project, one that plays an important part in the school's athletic program.

Girls' Softball

The 1955 softball team had a very successful season, especially since there was only one varsity player returning. By hard practice and spirited playing, the girls captured second place in the Narragansett League. They hope for an even better season this year, when they will have many veteran players: Sheila Tunstall, Sylvia Correa, Pat Richard, Betty Monterio, Molly Hamer, Ida Mello, Evelyn Martin, Nancy Page, Linda Long, Barbara Besse, and Gladys Davidsen.

The second team deserves applause for winning all but two of their games.

Best of luck in the coming season!

Girls' Basketball

First row: — R. Downing, F. Hyland, E. Martin, M. Hamer, P. Richard, S. Correa, S. Tunstall, I. Mello, L. DuMaulin, M. Mello.

Second row: — C. Rego, J. Calahan, B. Besse, G. Dawdsen, S. Silveira, A. Taylor, Miss Hayes, F. Mello, J. Alden, R. Damm, N. Page, A. Czar, B. Monteiro, J. Piva.

Hurrah for our Girls' Basketball team! We take pride in their placing second in the Narragansett League. We heartily congratulate the industrious squad.

This varsity team, coached by Miss Hayes, was made up of ten spirited girls. These girls practiced twice a week with great enthusiasm and have realized success.

The members of the team were Sylvia Correa, captain; Pat Richard, co-captain; Gladys Davidsen, Mary Hamer, Linda Long, Evelyn Martin, Ida Mello, Betty Monteiro, Nancy Page, and Sheila Tunstall.

Good luck to you, girls, in your coming season.
